Terrible Death—Run Over by a Train of Cars.

[illegible], Oct. 21.—Fred Hudson, for many years managing editor of the New York Herald, [died] this afternoon at his home in Concord from injuries received on a railroad track at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon. It seems that Mr. Hudson was approaching the street crossing of the Middlesex railroad in a covered buggy with Judge J. P. Keys, who was driving, when the flagman warned them of the approach of a train. They stopped till the engine passed, being engaged in conversation, and not thinking that the cars were coming after, and that a flying switch was always made at this crossing, he started to cross, when the cars struck the hind wheel and threw Judge Keys into the street, [illegible] Mr. Hudson and [illegible] along the track twenty feet and threw him down a slight embankment. An examination showed that Judge Keys, although considerably bruised and stunned, was not seriously injured. Mr. Hudson's injury, however, proved fatal. He died this morning. Mr. Hudson was 56 years of age.

Notable Deaths.

Boston, Oct. 21.—Rev. Alexander S. Healey, pastor of St. James Catholic Church of this city, died to-day after a lingering illness. He was born at Macon, Georgia, in 1836, and was a brother of the bishop of Boston and president of Georgetown (D. C.) College.

Louisville, Ky., Oct. 21.—A special from Paris, Ky., says Hon. R. T. Davis, eldest son of the late senator Garrett Davis and a most prominent member of the Bourbon county bar, was found dead in bed this morning. His death is supposed to have been caused by an overdose of chloral, which he had been in the habit of using as an antidote for pain. Mr. Davis was president of the Northern Bank of Kentucky and deservedly held as one of the first citizens of this county and state.

Suicide of a Lunatic.

Chicago, Oct. 21.—A man named Kaiser, about 20 years old, who had recently become insane on the subject of religion, slipped into the tower of the water works this afternoon and ascending to the top, some 170 feet, threw himself over and was dashed to pieces on the rocks below.

Senator Wallace on Resumption.

Pittsburg, Oct. 21.—Senator Wallace in a speech to-night devoted himself to the discussion and explanation of the financial question, claiming that the resumption of specie payment without preparation would only cause a [illegible] and widespread bankruptcy and ruin, and cited as an instance of the effect of forced resumption the condition of the industrial, agricultural and commercial classes of Great Britain in the ten years after the close of the French war in 1815. Mr. Wallace took the stand that the way to reach resumption and liquidation of the public debt was to build up the prostrated industries of the country by providing the people with currency enough to meet the demands of business, by establishing confidence in commercial circles, and by the postponement of resumption until the country warrants it.

Plead Guilty to Tampering with the Crooked.

St. Louis, Oct. 21.—Late to-day the following persons under indictment for defrauding the internal revenue in connection with crooked whisky appeared in the United States district court and withdrew pleas of not guilty, as to certain counts in the indictments against them, and substituted pleas of guilty: J. L. Bernecker, B. H. Engelke, Louis Teutsher, R. W. Ulrick, Alfred Bevis, F. H. Franz, G. B. Bingham, J. W. Bingham, F. C. Fiderer, L. G. Quinn, R. A. Quinlan, W. H. Wadsworth. This action caused a good deal of comment and is regarded as a victory for the prosecution. Others however hint a compromise by the government on the least intimation that if such a course were pursued by the defendants the penalty would be light. A good deal of speculation is indulged in to-night, but nothing definite as to the motive of these parties.

WASHINGTON CITY.

The Canada Fishery Question.

Chicago, Oct. 21.—A Washington special says the statement is made that a new mixed commission is about to assemble at Halifax to arrange a final settlement of the Canadian fishery question. The Joint High Commission when in session made an effort to adjust the difficulty with Canada, and the United States, failing, agreed to the appointment of a new commission, one member to be appointed by Great Britain, one by the United States, and one by the two countries. They could not agree, and it was determined to leave the nomination of the third commissioner to the diplomatic representative of Austria at London. The privileges contended for by American fishermen were the right of taking, curing and drying fish in the waters of the Canadian dominion, without being restricted to any particular distance from shore, with permission to land to dry their fish, making purchases. Other provisions of the reciprocity induced Canada to pass very severe laws against American fishermen, calculated to drive them from the usual fishing grounds, and many vessels were seized and brought into Canadian ports as prizes. In 1870, notwithstanding Canadians enjoyed the same privileges on American waters as Americans do, the American members of the joint high commission suggested that the United States might be willing to pay a million dollars for the privilege of fishing forever in Canadian waters, but the British members deemed the sum entirely inadequate. The Americans replied that they did not regard the privilege as valuable, but that the United States wanted it because it was desirable to remove all causes of irritation between the two countries. The commissioners to meet at Halifax are Sir A. T. Galt, on the part of Great Britain, and Lieut. Gov. Clifford of Massachusetts for the United States. The third commissioner is not yet named.

Decision of the General Land Office.

Washington, Oct. 21.—Kapp's Western Land-owner for September reports the following important decisions by the commissioner of the general land office.

Private Land Claims.—Congress having confirmed the grant to a town as reported by the surveyor general, the town is not necessarily restricted in its claim to the four league limit of a public grant under the Mexican government, where the boundaries described in such a confirmation include more than four square leagues. Great care should be observed that the boundaries described in the grant are strictly followed. Parol evidence of judicial possession, when the fact of giving such possession is not evidenced by record, should not be admitted. The boundary between two described natural objects should, in the absence of evidence to the contrary, be a straight line, though it may be modified to include the town.

A qualified soldier under section 2306, revised statutes, may enter enough more land in his original entry to make up 160 acres and pay cost for a small excess, but where he applies to enter a tract or tracts the area of which added to that of his original entry exceeds 160 acres by a greater excess than the area it would require to make up the deficiency, such application should be rejected.

Where claimants under the soldiers' homestead laws do not, in the absence of adverse claims, make entries within 60 days after notice, their filings will be treated as expired and of no legal effect.

The acting secretary of the interior has affirmed the decision of commissioner Burdett in the case of the Central Pacific Railway Co. vs. the Mammoth Blue Gravel Co. [illegible] important decision is to the effect that mineral lands do not pass to the Central Pacific Railway Co. by virtue of its grant, [illegible] timber on mineral lands within its 10 mile limit [illegible] is granted [illegible] necessary to support the improvements of mines.

Gov. Pacheco has appointed Chief Justice Wallace a member of the board of regents of the university of California, vice Sachs, resigned. Gov. Pacheco has named J. H. [illegible] ringer of San Francisco and Wallace and David Dalsenfield of San Diego as members of the delegation from California to the national railroad convention to be held in St. Louis Nov. 25th, for the purpose of considering the construction of the Pacific railroad through the states and territories of the southwest. The state is entitled to three more delegates, who are yet to be appointed.

Railway Accident.

Los Angeles, Oct. 21.—This morning the regular down Wilmington train started from the depot of the Southern Pacific railroad on schedule time of 10:15. When about three miles from the city an axle broke. It was not discovered for about a quarter of a mile. The train consisted of two passenger coaches and a section of freight cars. The break occurred in the freight car. Five freight cars were wrecked and three platform and two box. A wrecking car was at once sent to the scene of the disaster. The train was put in trim and moved off without any interruption. No one was injured and the damage trifling.

WASHINGTON TERRITORY LEGISLATURE

THE CURRENCY

The subjoined extracts from Carl Schurz's opening speech in his Ohio campaign present the facts with relation to the currency problem so plainly that no one can fail to comprehend them and see the fallacy of the inflation theories. The Ohio election is past, and it is to be hoped the inflationists throughout the country are done for. It is well however for the citizens to be well fortified against the errors of these visionaries. Mr. Schurz said:

"You say that though the banks in business centres are full of money lying idle for want of employment, we want more currency. I tell you business can have as much as it likes, without any further act of the government. According to law, every one of you or any association you may form, having the necessary [illegible], can start a bank of issue. A general license to that effect through the free banking act was given by congress last winter. We heard so much of the West and South wanting more local circulation and starving for greater banking facilities. Now you can make yourselves comfortable. All legal impediments are removed. You can issue any amount of currency, but behold the currency will not inflate one cent's worth. And you, worthy patriots who clamor for more currency, do not lift a finger to create more. Why? Here is a reason given by the Cincinnati Enquirer: 'There is not currency enough in circulation to buy the bonds to deposit with the national government and obtain national currency in exchange.' This is genius. It ranks with the most brilliant financial utterances of Governor Allen himself.

"But I appeal to you—business men, laborers, farmers—who earnestly desire to do right and look up to your party leaders for instruction. If you want an instance of impudent insulting assurance with which these men depend on your being too ignorant and stupid to tell an obvious fact from an obvious falsehood, look at this. Here is the great representative organ of inflation Democracy—the tabernacle of its brains, the feeding pipe of its wisdom. And now while everybody knows that millions and millions of money are lying unemployed in the business centres of the country, east and west, looking for investment sufficiently safe, while everybody knows that in every large city in the land there are dozens of capitalists with abundant means which they might devote to the creation of bank paper issues if it were profitable; while everybody knows that there is scarcely a town of respectable size without men of means fully able to form a combination for that purpose, that organ, fighting the truth as its personal enemy, coolly asks you to believe that there is not currency enough in the country to permit the purchase of bonds as a basis for further national bank issues. When I read such things I do not know what to admire most—the audacity of the inventors or the pitiable weakness of the invention.

"But the absurdity of that statement appears in its full glory when we look at all the circumstances of the case. Not only did the business of the country not show that it needed more when it refused to issue more in spite of its opportunities, but it proved that it had more than it needed by surrendering a large portion of the bank currency in circulation. On the first of July of this year new currency had been issued to new and old banks amounting to $7,780,000, but according to a letter addressed to me by the comptroller of the currency, $23,570,134 of legal tender notes have been deposited with the treasurer for the purpose of retiring national bank notes, under the act of June 20th, 1874, while under the redemption system, created by the same act, over $4,000,000 national bank notes have been retired, by far the largest part of this reduction taking place in the West and South, which, we are told, were starving for more circulation. By the 15th of September that figure had risen to nearly $29,000,000. How is this? The business of the country is, they tell us, suffering most terribly for want of currency, and that same business of the country not only not accommodating itself by issuing more when it has an opportunity, but voluntarily surrendering many millions of what it has. Let the Enquirer explain. Perhaps that exponent of inflation wisdom will say now that we have not currency enough to keep us from giving up that which we have got. But these are facts. There is contraction—not contraction by the government, not contraction by the Republican party, not contraction forced upon the business of the country, but a contraction of currency voluntarily set on foot by the business of the country when that business was at perfect liberty to choose expansion as well."

How absurd does the statement that the panic was caused by contraction appear in the face of this showing:—

"The Democratic platform of Ohio affirms that the business depression was caused by the contraction of the currency wrought by the Republican party. Time and time again it has been shown that this statement is false on its very face, but the inflationists, driven by the necessity of throwing dust in the eyes of the people, exhibit such an able-bodied perseverance in misstatement that I shall once more take the trouble to give the figures from an authentic statement before me. From that statement it appears that in 1873, when the business crash occurred, there were in the aggregate more legal tender and bank notes out than before. Including the fractional currency, there were $80,000,000 more than in 1872, over $29,000,000 more than in 1871, over $52,000,000 more than in 1870, over $58,000,000 more than in 1869, over $56,000,000 more than in 1868, over $46,000,000 more than in 1867, and even if we count the compound interest notes into the volume of circulating currency we find that we had in 1873—the year of the crash—a general aggregate of $1,000,000 more than in 1872, over $20,000,000 more than in 1871, over $51,000,000 more than in 1870, over $56,000,000 more than in 1869, over $2,000,000 more than in 1868, and yet just the year last mentioned has generally been called the year of unexampled prosperity, and when during all those years the currency had reached its greatest volume, that collapse came which the inflationists will have us to believe was caused by contraction. There is the record. There was expansion and no contraction, and if there was no contraction then contraction cannot have caused the collapse in business."

Some of the advocates of inflation have the hardihood to represent that their pet swindle will enable the poor debtor to cheat his creditors by paying them in less value than he has received. Mr. Schurz drives them into a very small corner. "We are told that an expansion of currency and its consequent depreciation will benefit the poor inasmuch as it will benefit the debtor as against creditor by enabling the former to pay off his debt in less value than that in which they were contracted. The morality of that arrangement I will not discuss. I prefer to leave it to the conscience of the people. But let us look at the pretended facts upon which it is based. Is it true that the poor men are the debtors of the country? To contract debt requires credit, and credit is based upon the means with which to pay. Men of very small means are seldom in debt because they have no opportunity for being so. If we had statistics of the private indebtedness in the United States before us, they would unquestionably show that more than [illegible] *per cent. of it is owing by men command*ing comparatively large means, and that the laborers for wages are the least indebted class of society, even in proportion to their earnings and savings, and next to them the farmers and small business men. But laboring people are to a very heavy amount creditors of the country. I venture to say that there is neither a manufacturer nor a merchant, not a professional man of means in this assembly, who is not a debtor, and among his creditors are in ninety-nine cases out of a hundred his workmen or his servants, to whom he owes wages for part of a week or a month. It has been calculated by good authority that the wages thus constantly owing for an average of half a month's service or work amount in the whole country to $120,000,000. And who is it that owns the deposits in the savings banks amounting to about $760,000,000? Not the rich, but the laboring people and persons of small means, who put their surplus earnings there for safe keeping. It is estimated that the same class has in national and private banks and in trust companies another $200,000,000, and nearly $190,000,000 is owing them in other kinds of debts. Here is then about $1,300,000 owing to the laboring people and men of small means, constituting their savings to that amount. That class are creditors, and you pretend that for their benefit you will expand the currency. Gold being at 15 per cent premium, those savings have a value of $1,020,000,000 in gold. Expand the currency until gold is 30 per cent premium, and you have robbed those people of $150,000,000. Expand it until the gold premium is 50 per cent and you have stripped them of $520,000,000 of hard earned money."

OREGON

The Salem calaboose is vacant.

The sheriff of Clackamas county is out gathering taxes in the rural districts.

James Logan escaped from the Albany jail last Tuesday. The sheriff don't know what he escaped for, as he was well treated and winter is setting in.

The Enterprise gives the following account of the fire at Oregon City on last Wednesday:

"The fire occurred in the frame building owned by C. P. Church and occupied by [illegible] J. Colbath as a sash and blind factory, and by C. M. Kester for the sewing of bags. The fire department was almost instantly on the ground, and, though aided by a drenching rain, the inaccessibleness of the building and the nature of the material composing it made it the work of an hour. The frame dwellings immediately adjoining the scene of the fire as a precaution, were all relieved of their furniture, but to the credit of 'our boys' be it said, the buildings were scarcely scorched. There was no insurance, the losses falling as follows: C. P. Church, owner of building, $1,200; Imperial Mills, bags and bagging, $1,000; Oregon City Mills, bags and bagging, $1,800; C. M. Kester, stock and machinery, $300; [illegible] J. Colbath, stock and machinery, $2,000; Arthur Millin, personal effects, $150; Alfred Millin, personal effects, $200. Total $7,250. A black skeleton is now all that remains of the former factory. The fire is supposed to have originated in the sash and blind factory. Mr. James Dolan, while in the performance of his duty, was thrown some twenty feet from the trestle work, receiving a very painful though not dangerous shock to his system. The efficient working of our department is deserving of the highest praise. Working under peculiar disadvantages, the energy, good judgment and courage displayed were all the more noticeable and all the more commendable. The employes of the Oregon City Woolen Mills are deserving of mention for the assistance which they gave towards the extinguishment of the fire. It is safe to predict the early resumption of these, now destroyed, industries."

FARM AND HOUSEHOLD

A Vicious Horse Cured by Kindness.—J. [illegible] Ely, at a recent meeting of the Farmers' Club of the American Institute, New York City, read the following: A horse in Farmington, formerly driven in a meat cart, was bought by his present owner at a very low price, because reputed vicious. He would bite, kick, run away, and was utterly uncontrollable. Soon after changing masters, the people, who had called the purchase a foolish one, was surprised at the difference in the horse's conduct. He would go slow as desired, stop instantly at "Whoa," follow his master, come at his call and rub his head on his shoulder. What made this change? Not force! The poor horse had been beaten, kicked and starved before, and grew more and more stubborn. No; he was well fed, well bedded, well watered, not overdriven or overloaded, never whipped, kicked or scolded. Kind words were given him, and now and then an apple or a lump of sugar. No gentler, safer or more faithful horse went on the road. But Indian fashion he forgot neither benefit nor injury. Occasionally, when in harness, he saw his former master. Then instantly all the fire in his nature was aroused. His eye rolled, he champed his bit and showed an intense desire to get hold of his enemy. Only the voice and caressing hand of his kind new owner could quiet him. What a power is kindness—the power that the Almighty loves best to use.

Treatment of Burns.—On the instant of the accident plunge the part under cold water. This relieves the pain in a second and allows all hands to become composed. If the part cannot be kept under water, cover it over with dry flour an inch deep or more. In many instances nothing more is needed after the flour; simply let it remain until it falls off, when a new skin will be found under. In severer cases, while the part injured is under water, simmer a leek or two in an earthen vessel with half their bulk in hog's lard until the leeks are soft, then strain through a muslin rag. This makes a greenish colored ointment, which when cool spread thickly on a linen cloth and apply it to the injured part. If there are blisters let out the water. When the part becomes feverish and uncomfortable renew the ointment, and rapid painless cure will be the result. If the patient, meanwhile, lives exclusively on fruits, coarse bread and other light food, [illegible].—Hall's Journal of Health.

Chicken Cheese.—Did you, reader, ever eat any? We like it. Boil two chickens till tender, take out all the bones and chop the meat fine; season to taste with salt, pepper and butter; pour in enough liquid they are boiled in to make moist. Mould it into any shape you choose, and when cold turn out and cut into slices. It is an excellent traveling lunch.

To Prevent Tin Rusting.—Rub fresh lard over every part of the dish and then put it in a hot oven and heat it thoroughly. Thus treated any tinware may be used in water constantly and remain bright and free from rust indefinitely.

To Clean Black Kids.—Take a teaspoonful of salad oil, drop a few drops of ink in it, and rub it over the gloves with the tip of a feather, then let them dry in the sun.

A New Death Test.—A memoir has just been published by Dr. Hugo [illegible] on a simple, easy, prompt and certain method of distinguishing real from apparent death. The plan suggested consists in the subcutaneous injection of a small quantity of liquid ammonia, the strength of which should be considerable (sp. gr. [illegible]). When injected into the living body, even during the last hours of life, ammonia causes the appearance of a spot of a deep red or purple color, which forms more or less quickly, according to the rapidity of the circulation. If the fluid be injected after death, no change in the color, or only a darkening of the natural color of the skin, is produced. If injected into a person in perfect health, a severe burning pain is experienced and a small blister rises in the center of the spot. No harm beyond the formation of a small eschar appears to result from the injection, and all traces vanish in the course of a fortnight. It seems to be a test which, being founded on a physiological basis, may be thoroughly trusted.

THE Y. M. C. A. TENT AT THE FAIR GROUNDS

Rev. Mr. Chattin did what many wanted to have done. It was his plan to try to have religious services every day and evening on the Fair grounds. Others said yes, it is a good thing, but at his own expense he engaged Mr. Noon to make an open tent, about 24x40 feet, which will do for the "fly" of a larger one, if needed, next year. The executive committee of the State Fair kindly allowed him to erect it beside the principal walk to and from the grounds. Mr. Gray, the agent of the Y. M. C. A. of Salem, took hold of the enterprise cordially, helping to get seats, lights and an organ. Mr. Powers, of Astoria, was on hand with his bass viol, and the Misses Parmenter and other ladies of Salem, with Mr. and Mrs. Carter, formed an impromptu choir. The noon prayer meetings were held in the oak grove north of the pavilion, an enclosed ground, with stand and seats, which the executive committee also very courteously tendered to these Christian friends for religious services whenever they desired to occupy them, day or evening.

The rich melodies of the Song Evangel, begun at first by a few voices, led by Mr. Chattin or Mr. Noon, and then borne on the voices of hundreds, drew large assemblies. A few fitting passages were read from the Bible, and short addresses given. Several brief prayers were offered, and the closing minutes spent as praise meetings. Many gave thanks for these Christian services on the Fair ground. One father said: "We have been in doubt whether to come and bring our children any more to the State Fair, there are so many temptations to vice. The moral dangers seem greater than the social or property gains. But if we can have Christian songs and the kindly conferences of God's people, we will come and bring our children." A mother said in the tent on Wednesday evening: "I have been praying for such a meeting as this every year since we have had a State Fair." An aged man bore witness to the love and faithfulness of Christ to him since 1820. Now left almost alone in the world, he rejoiced to trust the same dear Saviour to the end. Uncle Samuel Allen, as we have familiarly called him for more than a quarter of a century, with his wonted vigor and warm heart, told of his joy and of his faith in the sure title to eternal life through the Lord Jesus Christ. Two brethren who had just come from Iowa, entire strangers, felt at home in this meeting with so many who belong to the same household of believers. They find the same Saviour and the same witnesses for Jesus here as in Iowa, and it makes Oregon seem like home.

One brother from Portland was very thankful for the Good Samaritan, alluding to Brother Chattin, who goes round to help the poor, and bind up the wounds, and speak words of comfort to those in distress. A Christian lady from Iowa, also a stranger, was glad to be a witness for Jesus. One man went for amusement, but he found happiness. A brother from one of the middle States was glad to speak for Jesus and gave as our motto, "Oregon for Jesus." Songs of praise and faith were frequently sung at the intervals. The interest deepened at every meeting. Three or four often rose at the same moment to testify for Christ, and in turn spoke of their joy, or faith, or love to Him who first loved them. A lady with the dress of the Quakers, said that she could not go away without testifying for the blessed Jesus. Aged men and women, tottering to the grave, strong men and women in the full tide of business and family life, and young men and women mingled their voices in praise and prayer to the common Saviour who had bought them with His own precious blood. Rev. Mr. Hill, of the Baptist home missionary work, gave frequent and strong words of cheer. The pastor of the Evangelical church at Salem joined heartily in the work. Rev. D. J. Pierce, of the Baptist church of Portland, preached to a full tent on Tuesday evening, giving the thought that our Lord's death was for an idea, the great idea of the atonement for sin. His finished work was suggested by a hymn at the Wednesday noon prayer meeting, and that called upon Brother A—, who was not present the night before, to speak of the finished title to eternal life when Jesus died on the cross. We all want complete titles, finished titles to our land, signed and sealed. We want the same kind of title deeds to heaven. We can have these finished titles from Christ, who has made them complete and offered them to us without money and without price. Thus the Christian thought flows in the same channel, without collusion, or knowledge of each other's words.

A minister of the M. E. church, on Thursday, noon, read from John 3:14, of Christ lifted up, and of the pure and holy heart to fit us to see God.

Rev. G. H. Atkinson, of Portland, general missionary of the Congregational Church, preached to a crowded assembly within and without the tent, on Wednesday evening, upon Ephesians 1:3, "Blessed be the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, who hath blessed us with all spiritual blessings in heavenly places in Christ Jesus," as the key note of this letter of the Apostle Paul, then a prisoner for Christ, "an ambassador in bonds" (6:20.) If we keep this key note, that God has put all our spiritual blessings in Christ, we can sing through this difficult series of texts in the first chapter, and join in all the Gospel harmonies without discord; many were glad to speak again for Jesus, as they had done at the noon meetings.

One of the officers of the State Agricultural Society, Mr. Elliot, of Clackamas county, assured the assembly that they should be protected in their worship. Another was glad of the meeting and the tent, and volunteered to collect funds to pay for it. Twenty-eight dollars were given brother Chattin and ten more on Wednesday. Twelve more will pay all costs up to date, but all said, we must have one twice as large next year—the Centennial year. Colonel I. R. Moores said that the members outside exceeded those within the tent, and that the people would need the grove for Thursday evening services. Mr. Ingram, of Linn county, an Oregonian of 28 years' residence, was glad of this new element at the fair. He saw a gambling table in one place the evening before, and some of the victims also lying around drunk. Then he heard a few voices in a little family company singing some of these hymns which Bro. Hammond had so happily introduced. He liked them and he liked that man. Soon he heard the swell of voices from the tent. The contrast between the gambler and drunkard and the Christian service was so pleasant that he now felt cheered with the fair.

Judge T. had a life-long witness for the Master to affirm.

Our good brother Wimpi, from Beaverton, had a word for the dear Saviour.

We cannot recount all the glowing words that cheered the idea of the Christian tent and service at the State Fair. The officers may feel sure that their courtesy awakens the grateful response of a very large class of our people, and that its continuance with larger provisions for the future state gatherings will be cordially sustained. LETTER FROM OLYMPIA

Olympia, Oct. 20, 1875.

To the Editor of the Oregonian:

The largest amount of work yet done was transacted in the house to-day, probably owing to the fact that the weather was very inclement and the members preferred attending to their duty, to tramping through the rain and mud.

Mr. Miller of Island county introduced a bill for the repeal of the female suffrage act approved Nov. 29, 1871, which act prohibits women from voting or using the ballot in this territory, until the matter is legalized by congress. It was moved to refer the matter to the committees on education, military affairs and judiciary, and finally given to the latter, which consists of Messrs. Ferguson, Russell, Newland, Grenell and LaDue.

Mr. Wimpy introduced H. B. 53, to amend the organic act of Stevens county, by locating the temporary county seat at Spokane Falls.

The H. B., introduced by Mr. Harmon, for the creation of a board of immigration for this territory, provides that the governor shall appoint immigration commissioners, and that no compensation shall be paid except to the clerk of the board, who shall receive $300 and provide his own office. As the rent of such building, together with fuel, etc., will be about $290.75, the incumbent will hardly make a fortune out of the above amount.

H. B. 44, to aid in constructing a wagon road in Klikitat county, was brought up on second reading, and Mr. Richardson addressed the house at some length, explaining the importance of the bill. The bill, however, was laid on the table subject to the order of the house.

In the council to-day, a bill was introduced to provide for the formation of a constitution and state government for this territory, which was referred to an appropriate committee.

H. B. No. 1, for the organization of Ping county, passed in the house to-day, describes the division of Walla Walla county as follows: "Commencing at a point in the middle of the channel of Snake river, where the line between ranges 36 and 37 E. of the Willamette meridian intersects said point, thence S. on said range line to the N. W. corner of township No. 9 north, range 37 E.; thence E. on the N. boundary line of township 9 north, range 37 E. to the N. E. corner of said township, thence south on the line between ranges 37 and 38, E. of Willamette meridian, to the N. E. corner of township 7 N., range 37 E., thence along the N. boundary line of township 7 N., range 38 E. to the N. E. corner of said township, thence due south to the line dividing the territory of Washington from the state of Oregon, thence due E. on said dividing line to dividing line between the territories of Washington and Idaho, thence due north to a point where the dividing line between the territories of Washington and Idaho intersects the middle channel of Snake river; thence down the middle channel of Snake river to the point of beginning." Section 2 provides that nothing in this act shall be so construed as to deprive Ping county of its proportion of school tax for 1875. Sec. 4 provides that the temporary county seat shall be Dayton. Messrs. S. Oliver, F. G. Frary and George Pollard are appointed county commissioners, with authority to appoint county officers, who shall enter upon the discharge of their duties Jan. 1, 1876.

The house was called previous to the vote being taken on the final passage of the bill, and all the members being present, the following was the result of the vote. For the passage of the bill: Messrs. Abrams, Cooke, Crawford, Douthit, Ferguson, Foster, Grenell, Hannah, Harman, Harris, Hughes, Huntington, Karr, Kelly, LaDue, Miller, Newland, Richardson, Ringer, Russell, Ruth, Shrum, Wimpy, Whitney, Wood and Mr. Speaker, 26. Against: Messrs. Hodgis, Loyd, Lynch, Scott—4. The title of the bill was also agreed upon.

THE FAIR.

Notwithstanding the inclemency of the weather, quite a number of persons visited the fair of the W. W. I. Association last evening, and seemed surprised at the large number of articles exhibited, considering the [illegible] downfall of rain we have been visited with during the past [illegible]. Owing to the unusual quantity of work transacted in the legislature to-day, your reporter has been unable to visit the fair as yet, but will endeavor to give a report to-morrow.

Mrs. F. M. Phelps and troupe are playing in Tacoma hall, and the Golden Menagerie is located on the public square.

All the hotels and boarding houses are full to overflowing.

THE TERRITORY.

Two veins of coal have been discovered in and adjacent to Steilacoom.

A party of four men came over the Snoqualmie pass from the Kittitas valley last week. They came in three days to Seattle.

Mr. E. A. Light has sold his water power sawmill on North bay to the Port Gamble company for $2,000, the sale not including the machinery.

Gov. Ferry has pardoned Mike Williams from the Washington Territory penitentiary, where he has been for eight years, on a conviction of murder.

John L. Perkins, while at work in a logging camp near Steilacoom, had a small wood splinter fly into his eye, cutting the pupil and destroying the sight.

The northern end of San Juan island, W. T., must be very near His Satanic Majesty's dominions. They have found a sulphur mine there of great extent.

A farmer from Lake Washington informs the Seattle Tribune of the 19th that he had raised this season onions on his place at the rate of 1,450 bushels to the acre. Nine and ten hundred bushels are claimed every year for various parts of the territory.

THE WORLD IS WHAT WE MAKE IT.

I've seen some people in this life
Who always are repining,
Who never, never yet could see
The stormcloud's silver lining.
There always something is amiss
From sunrise to its setting,
That God's hand made their map of life,
They seem the while forgetting.

And I have seen a blessed sight
To sin-beclouded vision,
Some people who, where'er they be,
Make earth seem an Elysian.
They always see the brightest side—
The direful shadows never—
And keep the flower of hope in bloom
Within their hearts forever.

The one can make the sunniest day
Seem wondrous sad and dreary;
The other smiles the clouds away,
And makes a dark day cheery.
This life of ours is, after all,
About as we shall make it,
If we can banish grief and care,
Let's haste to undertake it.

The bazar and fair held by the Sisters of Charity on the State Fair grounds last week, for the benefit of the Academy of the Sacred Heart, at Salem, was very successful, the proceeds being $2,092.15.

THE [illegible] ON THE CANDIDATES

[illegible] for Mr [illegible] W [illegible] offer for [illegible] We [illegible] wish to be understood as intimating that the [illegible] goes outside its proper sphere in [illegible] the field of politics [illegible] believe [illegible] mainly to the [illegible] of [illegible] moral ideas [illegible] community [illegible] useful work. It is the fact that the [illegible] now comes boldly to the front instead of maintaining its [illegible] non-committal policy, and more than that the [illegible] unfortunate position it takes that cause surprise. We are not [illegible] to question the truth of the Advocate's assertion that Mr Geo W Dimick, the temperance candidate for congress, is both capable and honest. Certainly he bears that reputation among those who know him best. If therefore, he were the only capable and honest candidate before the people, or if there were some prospect of his being elected, we should say it was perfectly rational to support him. But he is not the only capable and honest [illegible] that Hon Henry Warren fills these requirements to the highest degree. He is capable, honest, efficient—proved so upon thorough trial,—and he has a prospect of success while Mr Dimick has no prospect and every [illegible] he gets diminishes Warren's [illegible] by just that much. The Advocate admits substantially that there is no hope for Mr Dimick's election when it says

> We care not so much for the Democracy of Mr Lane the Republicanism of Mr Warren or the Independence of Mr Whitney as we do for the real good of our country as represented by the just and patriotic principles of Mr George W Dimick. Mr Dimick is either a Democrat or a Republican [illegible] we care [illegible] which he knows his [illegible] the good of his country rather than [illegible] of party [illegible] he cannot win. Who knows that? Sometimes victories are defeats and defeats may be victories. The race is not always to the swift nor the battle to the strong. John Brown came to an untimely death but it made way for triumph over slavery. Our Saviour was crucified but his death won a victory over sin, hell and the grave. In war times destinies are often determined by what are called forlorn hopes [illegible] all the reasoning left is [illegible] we stay here [illegible] and then rush into the contest victory may be gained.

In all kindness and in all candor we must say the reasoning of this paragraph and the analysis it cites with respect to the question of success, are not what one had a right to expect from the usually practical and discreet pen of the editor of the Advocate. Generally speaking the victory is to the strong in political affairs, and the Advocate will realize that fact if by the candidacy of Mr Whitney just enough of votes are drawn away from Warren to make Lane the strongest man in the field, and thus defeat Warren a true and tried temperance man. The allusion to John Brown forces us to ask the editor of the Advocate if he supposes John Brown's untimely death really had any particular effect in hastening the abolishment of slavery? He could have helped the cause along much better by acting a little more discreetly and thus preserving his life for active service. And is it merely as a moral example, like the death of any other martyr, that Christ's death won a victory over sin, hell and the grave? If not the likening of John Brown and Geo W Dimick to him is unfortunate enough. And then the Advocate proceeds

> As to the impossibility or impracticability of prohibitory liquor laws or their execution when passed we esteem it all bosh. The United States finds no difficulty in administering the law of prohibition against those who sell liquor to the Indians. Such men when convicted are deemed criminals and are sent to the penitentiary. Whether such laws originated in the desire to protect the Indians or the whites it matters not [illegible] there are equally cogent reasons for the adoption of similar laws among the whites. Both parties know this. All Christians admit it. Yet all along has the temperance sentiment of the nation been insulted and put off with the worldly policy notion that no good would come of the effort and that we must sit down and suffer on with all the monstrous evils of intemperance and wait till the people get tired of bearing them.

No argument is needed to show that the case of prohibiting the sale of liquor to the Indians is not at all like a general prohibition of the traffic among all classes. There is a decisive public sentiment to support the law against selling liquor to Indians and there is not a decisive sentiment in favor of prohibition generally. And no law can be enforced in this country which has not a public sentiment behind it. If the temperance sentiment has been insulted it is because the temperance sentiment has not yet become sufficiently strong in the number and influence of those by whom it is entertained to protect itself against insult. The temperance people need not sit down and suffer on with all the monstrous evils of intemperance if they prefer to work as we advise them to do to build up a stronger temperance sentiment, but [illegible] they will have to wait for prohibition till the people get tired of bearing the evils of intemperance. The people are not yet sufficiently tired of bearing them and that is exactly what is the matter. And the case will not be bettered by defeating a true temperance man for congress in order to have the [illegible] consistency of voting for a man [illegible] especially as a prohibition can[illegible]

THE [illegible] INVESTIGATION

[illegible] course of Gen Howard in requesting [illegible] superior officer to institute investigation of the charges against the military [illegible] and asks to [illegible] investigation [illegible] at the sight of the [illegible] The only [illegible] assigned or intimated for this extraordinary opinion is that [illegible] the editor of the Journal will furnish the proof of every declaration we have made in the premises. That sounds very well and might be supposed to mean something, were it not that the Journal has a habit of letting off its reckless accusations in that way. Just such gasconade as that only, if possible, more positive and peremptory in its tone found a place in nearly all the articles of the [illegible] accusing Thomas H Cox of stealing the mail pouch. Only give us a chance—a half a chance, said the Journal over and over again and we will show that Cox is the man that got the treasure bag. Well the Journal was taken at its word. [illegible] matter except that common rumor said a pouch with some thousands of dollars was missing. That had been known to everybody who ever hears the gossip of the street for months and the Journal [illegible] all [illegible] evidence to the street gossip. So all his promises of proof, when put to the test proved the emptiest of bluster. It would hardly be worth while to expect any better showing in this case. We are satisfied the charges of the Journal are in most of the cases it mentions wholly false and in the rest of them so exaggerated and colored as to be essentially untrue. At all events the investigation should be made with [illegible] in the way prescribed by law for such investigations in order that it may be thorough in its character and legal in its results.

WARREN GAINING GROUND

The people throughout the state are proving the sincerity of their declarations heretofore made that they regard the question of the personal character of candidates for office as more important than the question of his party relations by coming out in support of Hon Henry Warren. A man well known in the state, tried in various positions for years he is without spot or blemish and he is therefore receiving the support of a majority of the Independents, and of a not inconsiderable number of Democrats. We could name several well known Democrats not Independents of Democratic antecedents but Democrats in the party sense who declare their intention to support Mr Warren. His experience in public affairs and his high personal character will secure to him the suffrages of [illegible] would [illegible] against him if there were any of the [illegible] questions still unsettled so as to give any reason for voting on party lines. Warren stock, to use a phrase appropriate to the commercial thought of the period is advancing. Let there be a strong pull and a pull altogether on next Monday trusting to the result for compensation for a good day's work.

MR LANE'S METHOD OF PUBLIC ECONOMY

A friend who lives in Umatilla county reminds us of the record which Mr Lafayette Lane made on the subject of public economy while representing that county in the State Legislature. He was elected to House of Representatives from Umatilla in 1864. The county was at that time out of debt, and had something like $2000 in the Treasury. Mr Lane worked a bill through the legislature adding 50 per cent to the fees of county officers. This was the beginning and foundation of the troubles in Umatilla county. That county is now in debt $40,000, and taxes range from 24 to 32 mills on the dollar. For this state of affairs Mr Lane is responsible more than any other person.

Last Tuesday the sheriff of Marion county, deputized Mr Henry Hedges of Woodburn to arrest James Whitney who is charged with the crime of arson in setting fire to the barn of G A Cone near Butteville on the night of the 5th ult. On Wednesday Mr Hedges succeeded in capturing Whitney about two miles from Woodburn and took him to Salem where he is now in jail.

"ARE YOU GOING TO PAINT?"

GILROY March 1 1875

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN: In an experience of three years with the Averill Chemical Paint more than one half the jobs have chalked peeled or cracked off, notwithstanding the Paint was warranted to do neither and out of sixteen failures the California Chemical Paint Company have refused to furnish Paint to repaint but six of the sixteen. I refer to the following houses that have cracked, peeled and chalked off in this place: James Corey, H C Morey M D, Thomas Darrough, J J Bryant, E H Farmer, Frank Oldham, J H Trickey, G Woodward, Thomas Rea, E Ball, D Whitney, William Wilson, J M Einfast, E H Hitchcock, J A Baxter, Music Hall, Catholic Church, and I might mention many more

To Proprietors Chemical Paint Company—Gents: I had my house in Oakland painted with your paint. It was warranted to be good and satisfactory in every respect. I was obliged to have the third coat put on to make it look as if it had been really painted and even then I think one good coat of Lead Paint would have given the house a better appearance. I think you ought to make up to me the loss I sustained besides the annoyance I felt knowing that an inferior article had been put on when a No 1 article had been promised. Hoping to hear from you soon on the subject, I remain,

BOLD BURGLARS FOILED.—Several weeks ago a gentleman named Nelson arrived here with his family from La Crosse, Wisconsin with the object of taking up a permanent residence in this state. After his arrival Nelson stopped for a few days at one of the hotels until he could rent a house suitable to accommodate his family. Such a dwelling was obtained in the southern portion of the city and the family changed their quarters. On the night following their installment in their new home an effort was made to burglarize the house. At a late hour the son who was sleeping in the front room was aroused from his slumber by some one endeavoring to turn the door knob. He remained in bed some moments but becoming much annoyed by the rude shaking at the lock the son arose and in an angry manner turned the bolt and threw the door open. No sooner was the door fairly open than Young Nelson was seized by three persons who were standing on the front steps. Though but 20 years of age Nelson stood [illegible] in his stockings and was very powerful [illegible] built. Finding himself assaulted by three persons Nelson made vigorous efforts at defence, and notwithstanding one of the burglars had him clutched by the throat the young man made it so exceedingly interesting for the fellows that they sought for safety in flight. Nelson, by his muscular and well directed resistance, freed himself from the grasp of the thieves, and followed up the advantage. Two of the burglars fled through the front gate, while the third, finding himself hotly pressed, ran toward the backyard. A high board fence extended across the yard at the rear of the house, which the escaping burglar scrambled over in his haste and fright. Nelson had a pistol in his pocket, and, perceiving that the thief was likely to get away in the darkness, drew the weapon out and discharged it at the fleeing form just as he cleared the fence. The noise of the struggle and the report of the pistol roused the family and several near neighbors who came rushing into the yard. Search was made but no traces could be found of the thieves. As no blood was discovered, it is quite probable that young Nelson missed the mark in his excitement. He states that the burglars wore masks and it is impossible for him to identify them. Mr Nelson brought with him a considerable sum of money, of which fact the would be burglars had knowledge. But it appears that they had reckoned without their host.

THE "CITY OF SALEM."—Notwithstanding the inclement weather, quite a crowd gathered upon the Pacific dock yesterday afternoon to wish this new steamer good speed as with Captains Scott and Miller at the wheel, she started upon her trial trip. After going up to the foot of Ross' Island her bow was turned down stream, and Portland being passed in handsome style, she continued her trip down the river to the foot of Swan Island. There she was turned about, but had hardly got under full headway when a hail was received from the O S N Co's boat Oneonta, and from her Mr. Gates, chief engineer of the O S N Co, was taken aboard, the first passenger bound for the port of Portland on the Wallamet. The trip up from Swan Island against a down stream wind was made in good time, the speed of the new boat being about [illegible] miles per hour. This will be improved [illegible] as the engines wear smooth and a [illegible] head of steam is used. The City of Salem, though a light draught boat, is very staunch in every part. She is driven by [illegible] engines, 14 inch bore by 4 [illegible] manufactured expressly for her at [illegible] Ohio. These are supplied with steam by a boiler manufactured at the same place, double riveted throughout and of immense strength. One hundred and forty pounds to the square inch is its working pressure, but upon the trial no more than 125 pounds were employed. She is provided with [illegible] and from 15 to 20 staterooms. These [illegible] proposed to furnish in a style [illegible] upon the upper Wallamet and [illegible] have been spared upon [illegible] to make her a model steamboat of her class. Her draught is but eight inches forward [illegible] light, and it is estimated that she will be able to carry 250 tons upon [illegible]. Tuesday of next week is the time [illegible] set for her appearance [illegible] the regular line between this city and [illegible] there be but sufficient water to [illegible] need fear no delays on account of gravel bars. Captain Scott has been heard to declare in a jocose way that the City of Salem will be able to navigate [illegible] providing there is a heavy dew.

[illegible] IN LIMBO.—Sheriff Twilight of Clatsop county, arrived here yesterday on the Astoria boat, having in custody two men named James Smith and W. Bakes. These men were arrested on Wednesday afternoon for breaking in the house of H. A. Shaw, residing in Astoria. Mr Shaw and family had been absent from home and only a son stopping at the house. This son is a painter by occupation and remains at the house only at nights. [illegible] were seen by a lady who resides near, loitering about the vicinity and watching in a suspicious manner the building. She did not like their actions, and concluded to keep a sharp lookout for them. Her vigilance was soon rewarded, for when they supposed no one was watching, they went to the rear of the house and broke out a pane of glass. Hearing the glass shiver the lady watched their movements more closely. Presently one of the thieves went into the woodshed and got an ax, and with it broke open the kitchen door. They then boldly entered the house and began to search for valuables. The lady quietly stole out of her house and hastened down town in quest of the marshal. That officer was found after some delay and the facts [illegible] to him by the lady. He started back with her, and a short distance from Mr Shaw's [illegible] met Bakes and Smith coming down. They were readily identified by the lady. [illegible] On searching their persons [illegible] found a watch, some jewelry and a number of old curious coins, all of which the thieves had taken from a bureau. They were placed in jail and yesterday morning given into the custody of Sheriff Twilight. Court does not convene at Astoria for Clatsop county until the 2d of January and as the jail is a very frail and insecure structure it was concluded to bring the prisoners up to Portland, and to place them in the county jail for safe keeping. Smith and Bakes are decidedly out of luck as the case is too clear to admit of a doubt. They are certain to acquire a thorough knowledge of the mysteries of brick making at the expense of the state.

SHIP BELLE SEWALL.—Among the large handsome vessels that have arrived at this port, we mention the American ship Belle Sewall, which reached here yesterday morning in tow of the steamer Annie Stewart from Astoria. This splendid vessel is under command of Capt. J. D. Pennell, who is one of the owners. The Belle Sewall was built in 1874 at Brunswick, Maine, by C S Pennell, brother of the [illegible], who also owns an interest in the ship. Her dimensions are: Length, over all, 200 feet, beam, 40 feet, hold, 14 feet, registered capacity, 1,445, carrying capacity, 2,100 long tons. Last year the ship sailed on her maiden voyage from Baltimore for Liverpool, carrying a general cargo. The passage was accomplished in 19 days. During the voyage a sailor was lost overboard. Discharging her cargo at Liverpool the Belle Sewall loaded with coals and sailed for Yokohama. The long passage was made in the remarkably short space of 123 days. From Yokohama to this port the ship came in ballast. The Sewall is moored at the Gas Co's dock and will commence to discharge ballast in a few days. The vessel is chartered by the Salem Flouring Mills Co to load with wheat for Europe. A more staunchly constructed and seaworthy vessel has never touched at this port than the Belle Sewall. She has a handsome model, is a rapid sailer and possesses superior passenger accommodations, the cabin being finished and furnished as elegantly as a parlor. When loaded the Sewall will draw nearly 23 feet.

CHINESE THIEF.—An old celestial while passing a store on Wednesday evening took a pair of pants which were hanging [illegible], supposing his actions were unobserved. But the larceny was discovered an instant after it was committed and pursuit given. A lively chase followed in which [illegible] and several others joined. After dodging for some time about the corners the thief was overhauled and escorted to jail. The [illegible] may have the case under consideration and John may yet have the [illegible] in the State service in [illegible] turning rock.

ON THE TRACK.—Wednesday evening the husband of the China woman found murdered in her room last week returned from the Sound where he was at work when the deed was committed. The husband has commenced the difficult task of tracking up the perpetrator of the sanguinary deed and proposes to bring him to justice. Dong Gong, the well known Chinese missionary, says it is well ascertained that the murderer was Ah Wing, a Chinese shoemaker, who has made his escape. Ah Wing may be known by having one leg very sore and the other full of scars. It is thought he will make his way on some of the ships bound for China, but it is doubtful if he can make his escape from the country.

A PLEASANT SURPRISE.—A gentleman writing from The Dalles yesterday says: "After Harmony Lodge No. [illegible] I O G T at this place had concluded its labors on Tuesday evening, the members were called to order by Bro Shepard and presented Bro Charles H Reed with a handsome gold pen and holder. Bro Charles A Messner made the presentation speech after which a bountiful collation was spread consisting of cake, fruit and candies. Every one went away feeling as if they had enjoyed themselves highly. Bro Reed left on the 20th for Boise City."

THE LECTURE.—Masonic Hall was filled last evening, although the heavens were not propitious on the occasion of the lecture delivered here by Mr S J McCormick. His subject was "Life and Times of Daniel O'Connell." The lecture was very interesting throughout and was received by the large audience enthusiastically. A number of musical selections, vocal and instrumental, were rendered before the lecture and at its conclusion. The proceeds which were very substantial will be donated to the St. Vincent De Paul Society.

MARK TWAIN SOLD.—Dr C H Mack's noted trotting gelding Mark Twain was sold yesterday for the handsome sum of $2,000 gold coin. We are not at liberty to state the name of the purchaser. Mark Twain is a six year old gelding sired by Bellfounder and is believed by the most competent judges of horseflesh to be the fastest and best animal of the kind, which has ever been in Oregon. Dr Mack is still the owner of Mark Twain's sire, Bellfounder whose record is 2.28¼, and has many other promising colts of the same stock.

FELL OFF THE WHARF.—On Wednesday night a son of Mr B N Arrigoni fell off the wharf at Astoria and was fished out with considerable difficulty. He was crossing from one street to another when missing his footing was precipitated into the water. His loud cries speedily brought assistance and the young man was hauled up in short order. The water was very cold and he was chilled to the bone before a dry suit of clothes could take the place of the wet ones. A good ducking and a sound fright was the result.

THE CIRCUS.—Wilson's circus closed a successful season of four nights and three matinees on the Skating rink lot last evening. Aside from the last two performances the tent has been well filled, in fact crowded with lovers of an occasional show of this kind. The rainy weather of the past twenty-four hours had a damaging effect on business yesterday. The company show at Astoria this evening at the conclusion of which they pack up and take passage on the steamer for San Francisco.

COLORS RECEIVED.—The handsome colors donated by the citizens of Salem to Captain U B Scott's new steamer City of Salem have been received from San Francisco, and will be presented with appropriate ceremonies to that officer on the arrival of the boat at the capital.

BARK RIVAL.—This vessel completed discharging her cargo at the eastside wharf last evening and will be towed down the river this afternoon by the tug Ben Holladay. The Rival will receive a cargo of stave bolts below Kalama for San Francisco.

YOUNG OFFENDERS.—The time of the circuit court will be occupied this forenoon in trying John Dougherty, Willie Reynard, Chas Carrol and Geo Connor—boys of 10 and 14 years of age—on a charge of larceny from a store.

BAPTIST CHINESE MISSION SUNDAY SCHOOL.

This school under the superintendence of G W Traver, during the past eleven months has made its mark upon the pupils and many of them are becoming familiar with the New Testament. Ten of its members were last April received into the Baptist church and one into the Episcopal church.

During the entire year the attendance has ranged from twenty to forty, but since the fisheries closed its numbers have increased in the hall. On October 10th there were fifty five Chinese present and on October 17th sixty were reckoned in the various classes. A steady increase of interest is noticeable among all the members and last night two of the scholars presented themselves for admission into the Baptist church and will be baptized on Sunday evening next.

Religious services have been held in Chinese on Thursday and Sunday evenings and Sunday at 2 P M, on the street.

It is estimated that over 400 Chinese listened attentively last Sunday to the earnest discourse of the able missionary Dong Gong. The impression made upon the minds of the scholars by daily and weekly contact with the religious influence of Christian teachers is wonderful. They are eager to learn, anxious to understand our music and quick to catch the song themselves.

Teachers from several Christian churches have labored in the Sunday school during the year and all seem much pleased with their classes.

Everything about the Sunday school and daily evening school portends a prosperous winter's work.

Several papers published in this city are dreadfully exercised over the fact that an old Chinaman, who has a diseased neck, is allowed to walk about the streets. We see no use in displaying such squeamishness.

A Celestial laundryman was observed yesterday at the foot of Stark street, busily engaged in rinsing out a lot of clothing. He found hydrant water too deeply tinted with the soil, and preferred to use river chuck.

A wild steer, which was driven through the streets at a late hour last night created much excitement. As the animal darted here and there along the dark streets, it occasioned no little consternation among pedestrians.

The lighthouse keepers at Cape Hancock saw a large vessel standing in close to the bar late on Monday evening. Nothing however could be seen of the vessel next morning. The vessel was doubtless the Antioch, which came over on Wednesday.

At the window of Hamilton Boyd's office on First street, can be seen a handsome picture representing the chief engineer of the San Francisco fire department and his assistants. Ex Chief Engineer W O Bruen brought the picture up and presented it to Mr Boyd.

An old cow that persisted in standing on the railroad track near the southern end of the trestlework in East Portland yesterday afternoon, compelled the engineer to bring his train to a halt. She was induced to yield the right of way and the train moved on to the depot.

PERSONAL.

LATE CASSIAR NEWS.

The following is the latest news from Cassiar, collated from Victoria papers:

The news from the mines is up to the 6th of October. The weather was then clear and pleasant with cold nights. A great many of the miners were leaving daily, who had worked out their claims or who had been working for wages; others intended to leave in one or two weeks and some were trying to hold on as long as the weather would allow them to work. It was generally thought that they would be able to work until the latter end of the month.

On McDame's creek a good many were stopping until the very last. This creek has been so high during the summer and so liable to sudden freshets that it is believed that the best time to work the bed of the stream will be early in the spring and late in the autumn. Upon the benches those who were getting pay intended to remain until about the 20th and several expected to stay until the ice drove them away.

On Thibert's creek few men were remaining and only one company intend to winter there. Generally the creek claims upon the lower portion are nearly worked out and it was too late in the season to open bank claims. Six miles up the creek a company were sinking in deep ground at the mouth of Boulder creek and getting very fair prospects. The entire creek for a long distance has been staked off for operations next spring. On Boulder creek itself some good diggings had been found with very coarse gold.

A great portion of Dease creek is considered to be worked out in the bed of the stream. Near the town at the lower end however there are a great many claims, only half of which have been worked and which have paid well this year. About three miles above this is another stretch of about a mile in length where the claims are rich and have only been worked on one side of the stream. About two miles further are some rich bank claims which will require one or two seasons more before they are worked out.

On Trout creek three claims were paying well and two or three on Quartz creek. All of these parties intend to work as long as the weather will permit.

The new discoveries on Sayyea creek have created some excitement, and a great many will go down there upon the ice in the spring. But little is known of this stream except that four men took out about 88 ounces of gold in about a month. The gold is very coarse and indicates a heavy deposit somewhere. Henry Lipman with three other men, was there when the party left, and his report will be looked for with a good deal of interest.

It is estimated that the number of miners during the present season has been about 900. The yield of gold from the different streams may be safely put down at $600 000 and probably will exceed that sum considerably. Of this Dease creek has probably turned out $250 000, Thibert creek $150 000 to $175 000, and McDame creek $200 000, including its tributaries—Trout, Quartz and Snow creeks. There has been no fall freshet this year, and the season has been extremely favorable for working on this account, especially for McDame creek.

Not less than $150 000 came down on the Otter, mostly in the hands of miners.

THE FARMER'S FRUIT DRYER.

The last day of the Fair the President and Board of Directors gave particular attention to the Fruit Dryer which was erected and in actual operation near the Pavilion by Mr Dietz the inventor. After examining the working of the Dryer, and also looking at the fruit manufactured at Eugene by Dr Herbold, with one of these machines the following resolution was adopted and signed by a working quorum of the Board without dissent, every one present giving a hearty endorsement:

STATE FAIR GROUNDS, Oct. 16 1875.

We the undersigned, members of the Board of Directors of the State Agricultural Society of Oregon, hereby certify that we have observed carefully the operation of the California Fruit Dryers which have been at work preserving fruits and vegetables on the Fair Ground the past week and have also carefully examined the samples of fruits, vegetables and meats manufactured in one of these Dryers at Eugene City and exhibited in the Pavilion; and that we find said Dryer doing good work in an inexpensive manner turning out a product that should command a ready sale at good prices. While the reasonable cost of the machines, their portable character, and efficient and rapid performance of the drying process, convince us that it is the greatly needed necessity for Oregon fruit growers as within the means of all. We cheerfully endorse the action of the committee awarding it a diploma and consider it worthy of especial recognition.

M WILKINS President

C P Burkhart, John Downing, D C Stewart, Jas F Bybee, W P Watson, Wm Elliott, G J Baskett.

At the State Fair of California recently held at Sacramento Mr Deitz had one of his Dryers in successful operation, and received a premium of $50 and a gold medal on the same for the manufacture of raisins, which no other Dryer had been able to accomplish, the product manufactured on the Fair Ground at Sacramento being equal to the best imported Malaga raisins.

Mr W [illegible] of Hood river, Wasco county, President elect of the State Agricultural Society, one of the most prominent fruit growers of Oregon and Mr [illegible] of Marion county, a large orchardist, gave practical evidence of their faith in the new Dryer by securing [illegible] machines for their own use.

Arrangements are made for operating a Dryer at Salem and a limited number will be immediately built for sale this fall, to cost from $65 to $300 according to capacity.

Persons desiring to purchase or wishing further particulars can address S. A. Clarke, Salem, who will carry on the manufacture and sale of these machines.

The course of the foreign exchange market is of special interest just now. One month ago prime bank 60 day Bills on London were quoted at $4 [illegible] for the pound sterling, and commercial bills [illegible] drawn against the shipment of grain [illegible] were sold at $4 7[illegible]. Now as the par of exchange is $4 86⅔ it shows that exchange is as it should be, in favor of this country and that gold [illegible] to be coming this way, and specie should be [illegible] drawn to meet the balance in our favor [illegible] when the imports to the United States [illegible] by the exports of grain [illegible] usually [illegible]. [illegible] the case was not the balance of indebtedness against our country which is obliged constantly to send out shipments of gold to pay the interest accruing on national, state and railway bonds held in Europe. It is stated that [illegible] upon our resources the raw material [illegible] for shipment and which Europe must have, would more than equal the manufactured articles which are imported for consumption.

Notwithstanding the recent extensive banking operations in San Francisco our latest exchanges from that city in their commercial columns contain fully the usual number of complaints about the tightness of the money market there and the strain made on the financial resources by the demands of trade. The same feeling is not experienced here where we have had no increase in banking facilities [illegible] there is less of the spirit of speculation in Oregon than in California. The actual capital of our State is more exclusively devoted to the promotion of the ordinary branches of trade, while a very important share in that state is absorbed in outside risky ventures and speculative enterprises. The flushness of the times produced by their mode of doing business may induce a belief in a much more active state of affairs there, but it can never [illegible] the assurance of safety which is guaranteed by the slower but surer methods of more conservative communities, and while San Francisco revels in her big bonanzas and palace hotels she must also look out for business and bank failures, while Portland having none of the former, has less to fear from the latter.

At the present time the supply of funds available for the purpose of moving the surplus crops of Oregon is just sufficient to admit of a moderately active business but not to give that animation which would rule under an abundant money market or very high prices. The city banks show a disposition to freely accommodate their regular customers [illegible] meantime making but little effort to enlarge their business greatly under the present state of affairs.

Pacific Coast Tonnage.

The arrivals of tonnage for the grain trade during the week have been limited though several vessels under engagement are now about due. Last week there was very little done in the San Francisco freight market. No material change is noticed in the rates to the United Kingdom or to a direct port. A 1 iron vessels commanding £2 10s to the former from San Francisco, and £3 from Portland. The list of tonnage disengaged at San Francisco is so small that another week of as much activity as was witnessed last would reduce it to almost nothing. The coast lumber and coal interests are from time to time demanding their share of tonnage and taking all things into consideration it is quite likely that the general freighting business will soon be better. The engagements for last week were as follows: Ship Robert Dixon, 1,308 tons, wheat to Liverpool private. British brig John McKean 101 [illegible] for Yokohama. British ship Grisedale 1,2[illegible] wheat to Cork private. British ship Gilbert Thompson 1,001 wheat to Liverpool private. The schr Maggie Douglass [illegible] tons was sold for $1,000. The engagements for the past nine months of the current year embraced 31[illegible] vessels with a total tonnage of [illegible] 171 being for wheat and flour, 67 for lumber, [illegible] guano, [illegible] for coal and 18 miscellaneous.

PORTLAND, Ogn. Sept. 25 1875

We the undersigned have thoroughly tested and examined the New Wheeler & Wilson Nos. 6 and 7 Manufacturing Machines and find them superior to any we have ever seen for the purposes for which they are recommended. They are adapted to a great range of work and make a perfect stitch on all kinds of material. The motion being rotary they run with great ease and quietness, and as every part is perfectly finished they must be very durable.

POND'S EXTRACT

"Hear, for I will speak of excellent things."

POND'S EXTRACT—The great Vegetable Pain Destroyer. Has been in use over thirty years, and for cleanliness and prompt curative virtues cannot be excelled.

CHILDREN. No family can afford to be without Pond's Extract. Accidents, Bruises, Contusions, Cuts, Sprains, are relieved almost instantly by external application. Promptly relieves pains of Burns, Scalds, Excoriations, Chafings, Old Sores, Boils, Felons, Corns, etc. Arrests inflammation, reduces swellings, stops bleeding, removes discoloration and heals rapidly.

FEMALE WEAKNESSES. It always relieves pain in the back and loins, fullness and pressing pain in the head, nausea, vertigo.

IN LEUCORRHŒA it has no equal. All kinds of ulcerations to which ladies are subject are promptly cured. Fuller details in book accompanying each bottle.

PILES—blind or bleeding—meet prompt relief and ready cure. No case, however chronic or obstinate, can long resist its regular use.

VARICOSE VEINS. It is the only sure cure.

KIDNEY DISEASES. It has no equal for permanent cure.

BLEEDING from any cause. For this it is a specific. It has saved hundreds of lives when all other remedies failed to arrest bleeding from nose, stomach, lungs, and elsewhere.

TOOTHACHE, Earache, Neuralgia and Rheumatism are all alike relieved, and often permanently cured.

PHYSICIANS of all schools who are acquainted with Pond's Extract of Witch Hazel recommend it in their practice. We have letters of commendation from hundreds of Physicians, many of whom order it for use in their own practice. In addition to the foregoing, they order its use for Swellings of all kinds, Quinsy, Sore Throat, Inflamed Tonsils, simple and chronic Diarrhœa, Catarrh (for which it is a specific), Chilblains, Frosted Feet, Stings of Insects, Musquitoes, etc., Chapped Hands, Face, and indeed all manner of skin diseases.

TOILET USE. Removes Soreness, Roughness and Smarting; heals Cuts, Eruptions and Pimples. It revives, invigorates and refreshes, while wonderfully improving the Complexion.

TO FARMERS Pond's Extract. No Stock Breeder, no Livery Man can afford to be without it. It is used by all the Leading Livery Stables, Street Railroads and first Horsemen in New York City. It has no equal for Sprains, Harness or Saddle Chafings, Stiffness, Scratches, Swellings, Cuts, Lacerations, Bleedings, Pneumonia, Colic, Diarrhœa, Chills, Colds, &c. Its range of action is wide and the relief it affords is so prompt that it is invaluable in every Farm-yard as well as in every Farm-house. Let it be tried once and you will never be without it.

CAUTION! Pond's Extract has been imitated. The genuine article has the words Pond's Extract blown in each bottle. It is prepared by the only persons living who ever knew how to prepare it properly. Refuse all other preparations of Witch Hazel. This is the only article used by Physicians and in the hospitals of this country and Europe.

HISTORY and Uses of Pond's Extract in pamphlet form sent free on application to POND'S EXTRACT COMPANY, 98 Maiden Lane, New York.
